

Google's Transformational Planning Workshop for Senior Leaders

"The discussions were very informative and helped us to develop and crystalise our strategy in several areas."
—Feedback from a recent Headteacher attendee

Background

New customers purchasing 20+ Chrome management licences or 20+ Google Play for Education between the 13th April and the 30th June 2015 from an authorised Google reseller will be able to benefit from a day long Transformational Planning Workshop. The workshop will help school leaders build a practical plan for integrating technology in their classrooms in order to improve learning outcomes.

Description

The workshop is a one day interactive session for a maximum of 2 people per school, facilitated by an educational technologist with extensive knowledge and experience spanning deployment, change management, technical areas and pedagogy. It will be delivered either at your school or a local school and will walk attendees through considerations and practicalities around implementing a technology strategy in their school.

Attendees will get an overview of what a connected classroom could look like and gain a greater understanding of what is possible in this environment. Google's supported classroom and workflow will be explained, along with what is required to make this a success. Attendees will create a future plan document as part of the workshop which will detail achievable tasks, ideas around how these can be measured and include a list who would be involved in the delivery. A project presentation will also be developed by attendees enabling them to share their learnings with stakeholders in their school.

Audience

The Transformational Planning Workshop is targeted at the senior leadership and management team members including any key decision makers involved in technology purchase or those with roles supporting and enhancing teaching and learning.

Attendees will benefit from

- A greater understanding of the possibilities of technology in teaching.
- A thorough overview of Google's Education Solutions with guidance on how to establish an effective Google supported classroom successfully.
- The development of a practical future plan document with clearly articulated, realistic and achievable goals for technology in their school. This plan will be an invaluable tool to gain the buy-in and support of teachers, parents and stakeholders across the school community.
- An Implementation project presentation which can be communicated to other staff for their feedback and consideration.

How to take advantage of this offer

- Please contact your authorised Google reseller. Once your purchase is confirmed, the reseller can sign you up for the Transformational Planning workshop.

- You will then be contacted by Google's training partner, Trilby, who will arrange the workshop to take place at a mutually agreeable time, date and venue.

Requirements for school to qualify for this offer

- Transformational Planning Workshop incentive is only available for new customers who purchase 20+ Chrome management or 20+ Google Play for Education licenses from a Google authorised education reseller.
- Only purchases from schools, academies, colleges or universities that have not bought Chromebook management licences or Play for Education licences previously will be entitled to this free workshop incentive.
- Chromebook management licence or Play for Education licence orders must be confirmed by Google between 13th April and 30th June 2015 to qualify.
- The Transformational Planning Workshop for your school must be scheduled to take place within 3 months of the confirmation from Google of your eligible Chromebook management licence or Play for Education licence order and no later than the 31st October 2015.
- The promotion is only open to educational institutes in the UK.

Disclaimer:

This offer may be removed at any time without notice.

Further questions please contact your authorised Google reseller.